Woman's House Painted By YBM Crew While She Attends Church

HALL HOME before Young Business Men went to work.

Clean-up, Paint-up and Fix-up Week Here Has Practical Side

Mrs. Maytie Hall, 51, of 1221 East Temple St., squinted through the sun's reflections when she slowly plodded home from church Sunday afternoon.

And a silent prayer formed on her lips. She knew that faith had its rewards.

Before her stood a home transformed.

When she left to take her two granddaughters to the Second Baptist Church at about 2:15 P.

M. Sunday, she left her simple little one-story dwelling, its paint peeling from the side of its rickety steps falling away as they had been for years.

When she returned, at about 6 P. M., she saw what was virtually a new-looking home, glistening with a fresh coat.

Her home had been the target for a "Clean-up," and some dozen members of the civic-minded Young Business Men's organization had used it to demonstrate what can be done to make Washington C. H. a better and cleaner place in which to live.

With paint and brushes donated by paint and hardware stores downtown and ladders loaned by one of the YBM members, the young men had gone to work. They removed much of the old encrusted paint with wire brushes, and brushed on the paint for almost four hours, without let-up.

Part of "Clean-up Week" Their work was a part of the "Clean-up Week," which got underway in this city last Saturday and which will continue through next Saturday.

New Scheme Hatched To Put Acheson Out

WASHINGTON, May 14—(P)—Rep. Phillips (R-Calif.) today came up with a new strategy for House Republicans seeking to force Dean Acheson out of office as secretary of state.

Such a campaign has been under discussion in House cloakrooms for several weeks, and administration leaders have conceded privately they are not at all sure they can stop it.

Phillips, a member of the appropriations committee, has drafted an amendment which would strike Acheson from the State Department payroll without mentioning him by name. Attempts to eliminate individuals by name have been blocked in the past by court rulings.

Phillips' amendment would prohibit use of any State Department funds to pay anyone in the department who in the previous five years "was connected directly or indirectly with a business or professional office, any part of whose income was derived from business relations with or professional services for any government other than the government of the United States."

By Wash Fayette

That deer which has been roaming about Fayette County for the past two weeks was seen Sunday on the Mrs. Mary Ford farm a short distance from Milledgeville.

The animal was in a field. When Mr. and Mrs. Robert West and Richard Ramsey halted while driving past, the deer proceeded to leap two wire fences and started to leave the immediate vicinity.

The deer was pasturing on the Country Club grounds here recently, and also had been seen on the Edith Worthington farm and elsewhere.

Those chimney swallows, or swifts are back in their old home in the Eagle's Building, corner of Fayette and Market streets.

For several years these fleet-winged swallows have made their home in the air shaft in the south corner of the building.

Between 50 and 100 of the birds now have their nests attached to the walls of the air shaft.

Several times each day they may be seen circling about over the building in large numbers, and particularly in the evening when they have completed their feeding for the day, they circle about and drop into the air shaft so fast that within a minute's time the entire flock vanishes from sight.

Sometimes they leave the opening just as rapidly as they settle in it.

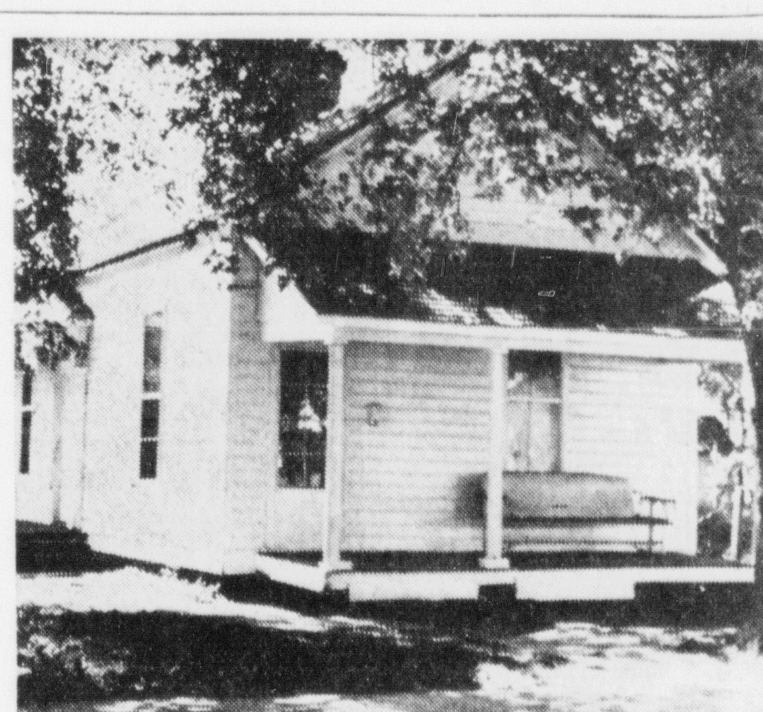

If one swallow strays off while the flock is settling in the chimney, another bird flies out to it, and they both streak back to the nesting place.

It is interesting to watch the swifts as they leave and enter the shaft.

Zoo Romance Is Fatal

Huge Gorilla Falls in Moat and Drowns On Trying To Get to Fiancee on Other Side

NEW YORK, May 14—(P)—America's most promising gorilla romance has been ended abruptly.

Makoko, 14-year-old great ape, took a fatal tumble into a Bronx zoo moat yesterday on the eve of his transplanted jungle honeymoon.

A daring rescue attempt by a keeper of birds, who plunged in after the popular 440-pound gorilla, came minutes too late.

Great apes cannot swim, and Makoko thrashed about wildly. His panic apparently prevented him from finding two horizontal cables put below the surface of the water for just such an emergency.

Makoko's 12-year-old, 335-pound neighbor and fiancee, Oka, did not see the tragedy. But a keeper said:

"She'll know what's happened. She'll grieve. She won't live now."

The moat, which replaces bars, is more than six feet deep and 12 feet wide. It separates the animals from the public.

Zoo officials said Makoko always had been timid about venturing near the moat, probably from fear of both spectators and water.

But yesterday he ventured right up to the edge.

Then, in sudden fright, he leaped for the high brick wall between his pen and Oka's. He lost his grip and slipped into the moat.

Radio Man's Body Found in Norway; Missing 5 Months

OSLO, Norway, May 14—(P)—The body of Lyford Moore, American Broadcasting Company correspondent missing for five months, was found in Oslo fjord yesterday and police sought to determine the cause of his death.

The body was identified by fingerprints. A medical expert said the body showed no signs of death by violence, but that a further investigation is being made.

The 40-year-old Moore, a native of Detroit, Mich., was last seen alive last Dec. 10. Four days later, the American Embassy announced he had vanished and asked Oslo police to conduct a search.

Moore, chief of the ABC Bureau in Berlin, came to Norway early in December with a party of U. S. Air Force men to obtain Christmas trees for American airmen in North Africa. After he disappeared, a reward of $2,800 was offered for information leading to his discovery and Daniel O'Connor, a Washington attorney, was sent here by Moore's family to aid in the investigation.

Injured Soldier Dies in Hospital

CLEVELAND, May 14—(P)—Despite a rush air trip from Columbus to Cleveland, an 18-year-old injured soldier died in Lakeside Hospital last night before an artificial kidney could help him.

The Ohio National Guard plane carrying Pfc. Charles Shimp of Centerburg (Knox County) landed at Cleveland Airport at 6:12 P. M. (Daylight Saving Time). However it requires six hours to attach the artificial kidney to a patient and Shimp died at 10:25 P. M.

The soldier, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., received internal injuries nine days ago in an automobile accident in Licking County. His spleen and gall bladder were removed before he was brought here from Ohio State University Hospital.

Price Schedule Is Put on Beef

Tags on Some Cuts Are Up, Others Down

(By The Associated Press) Retail price ceilings go into effect on beef today -- but don't count on general price-slashing at your butcher shop.

Some of the new beef prices will be higher, some lower, some unchanged.

Many stores have found the new government ceilings permit advances on several items from prices they were charging last week. Where competitive conditions permit, most of these retailers are expected to take advantage of this. They say they're entitled to a little relief after being squeezed in recent weeks as costs went up while their own selling prices were frozen.

A spokesman for a leading supermarket chain in the east said the ceiling prices in general allowed boosts for the more expensive cuts, like porterhouse and sirloin steaks. But the ceilings either held the prevailing price line or required reductions on "the poor man's meats" like hamburger and stewing beef.

Third Major Step Imposition of the retail ceilings today in the third major step in a series of actions ordered by government price stabilizers and designed to reduce beef prices about 10 cents a pound by October.

Earlier, packers and slaughterers were ordered to start grading their beef according to federal standards, if they weren't already, and to set up a sales records system for use in the event meat

Barricaded Gunman Finally Gives Up

POMEROY, May 14—(P)—Richard Ebersbach, 45, who had barricaded himself in his house, surrendered at 4:45 A. M. (EST) today to a group of policemen from the Pomeroy and Middleport police departments, the Meigs County sheriff's office and the State Highway Patrol.

Police tried to take him into custody last night after he allegedly fired 14 bullets into the automobile of Virgil Fry of Rutland and a girl companion. No one was injured.

Ebersbach became angered because the couple parked in front of his house and did not leave immediately at his request.

He was lodged in jail. No charges were filed immediately.

AP War Reporter Cited for Bravery

TOKYO, May 14—(P)—A lanky, eager war correspondent drifted out of the Korean dusk one night and asked permission to accompany an American outfit preparing for an attack.

The battalion commander tried to talk him out of it, because it was April 23, the second night of the heavy Chinese offensive on the western front.

But John Randolph, Associated Press war correspondent, went along anyway.

The next day many American newspapers carried his graphic account of the fight put up by Company B, first battalion of the U. S. Seventh Infantry regiment.

Today three weeks later, the rest of the story came out.

Randolph has been cited for "his courageous actions under fire on behalf of my men" by the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Fred C. Weyand of Heraldsburg, Calif.

Mac's Plan Threat To Europe, Belief

Truman Korea Policy Supported By Eisenhower, Marshall Thinks

WASHINGTON, May 14—(P)—Secretary of Defense Marshall testified today he fears adoption of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Korean war proposals would seriously affect Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European defense plans.

Winding up seven days of testimony on MacArthur's ouster, Marshall also said:

He believes Eisenhower supports President Truman's limited Korean war program.

Administration military leaders -- including Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway in his understanding -- present a solid front in support of the president's plan and in opposition to MacArthur proposals for blockade of China, bombing bases and use of Chinese Nationalist troops.

MacArthur testified 10 days ago that it was his understanding that Ridgway, his successor in the Far Eastern commands, had similar views to his on how the Korean war should be conducted. He said he thought other military leaders there also agreed with him.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) asked Marshall if the adoption of the MacArthur proposals "would require adjustments of General Eisenhower's plans and (Please turn to Page Two)"

Grand Jury Papers Sought by Thieves

CHARDON, May 14—(P)—Geauga County Prosecutor Harold K. Bostwick today said someone might have attempted to steal secret grand jury papers shortly after the jury indicted Sheriff Stuart M. Harland.

He said an unsuccessful attempt was made to enter his office and the office of Assistant County Prosecutor Scott F. Bostwick Friday night.

"I believe it may have been someone who wanted records of the grand jury, although I don't know what good they would be to anyone," the county prosecutor reported.

The papers were not kept in either of the two offices.

The jury reported an indictment at 8:15 P. M. Friday night, but did not reveal until the next morning that it was Sheriff Harland. Harland was accused of pampering George Gordon, former manager of the Pettibone Gambling Club while he served a 60-day term on a gambling conviction.

Gordon was released last week after completing his sentence.

American Casualties

WASHINGTON, May 14—(P)—The Defense Department today identified 232 additional Korean war casualties. A new list (No. 302) named 16 killed, 184 wounded, 16 missing in action and 16 injured in accidents.

With complete disregard for his own safety Mr. Randolph moved forward to carry these wounded men to less exposed positions where they could receive medical attention. All in all, I believe he made four such trips.

The AP's newsmen mentioned only casually in his story that he had helped carry some wounded.

The colonel added: "Several men in this battalion undoubtedly owe their lives to his (Randolph's) efforts to get them immediate medical attention."

Lull in Fighting And New Attack Are Indications

Chinese Deserters Coming to Allies In Steady Trickle

BY OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, May 14—(P)—Chinese Red troops today expanded a threatening bridgehead across the Choyang River on the central Korean front despite the pounding of American guns.

These forces northeast of Chunchon may spearhead a second spring offensive by the 500,000-man Red army, expected in about ten days.

Elsewhere along the 100-mile front United Nations patrols probed no-man's-land with little opposition. However, two sharp clashes broke out on the western front.

One American task force ran into a Chinese ambush and pulled back after a determined battle. The second prolonged fight began when an armored American outfit ambushed a Chinese patrol.

For the first time in the war UN forces are getting a small but steady trickle of Chinese deserters, AP correspondent John Randolph reported from this front. The deserters, often showing up with surrender leaflets, include some officers.

UN Ban Looms For Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 14—(P)—The United Nations sanctions committee today voted a worldwide ban on shipments of war goods to Communist China. The vote was 11 to nothing, with Egypt abstaining.

The sanctions group, formally known as the additional measures committee, is a 14-nation body set up to consider punishment of Red China for her intervention in Korea. The committee's vote is only the first step toward imposition of the world wide embargo.

Countries voting for the proposed embargo were: the United States, Britain, France, Australia, Canada, Belgium, Brazil, the Philippines, Turkey, Mexico and Venezuela.

Egypt abstained because she has no trade with Communist China and because her delegation is one of the 12-nation Arab-Asian group which has been attempting to work out some kind of cease-fire with Communist China.

Yugoslavia and Burma, named to the committee, declined to serve.

Three-year Freeze Of Military Urged

WASHINGTON, May 14—(P)—Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) has proposed that for a three-year period no men be retired from the armed services except for physical reasons.

Van Zandt, a member of the House armed services committee and a naval reserve captain, said in a statement yesterday the taxpayers could be saved nearly $1,000,000 a year if military men didn't retire so early.

Billions Wanted For Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, May 14—(P)—The Defense Department is planning to ask Congress for as much as $6,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 for new military installations and expansion of present ones, it was reported yesterday.

The prospective program, as outlined by a House armed services committee source who asked not to be named, said the department probably will submit a request before the end of the month.

Korea Vice President Out after Resignation

PUSAN, Korea, May 14—(P)—The resignation of Lee See Yung, 82-year-old vice president of the Republic of Korea, was accepted today.

The national assembly vote accepting the resignation was 77 to 10 with 41 members abstaining. Lee complained, in submitting his resignation, that he had no real authority. He also voiced criticism of President Syngman Rhee's cabinet selections.

Jeffersonville Wins; Tigers Reach Finals

Jeffersonville High School's baseball team Monday earned the right to play in the finals of the southeastern district class B finals Tuesday by defeating West Union 8 to 2 Monday morning.

Bud Knecht, pitching for the Jeffersonvillians, held the West Union boys to five hits and struck out 11. His mates gave him tight support, except for a single error.

The Tigers, meanwhile, were collecting 12 hits and taking advantage of 4 West Union miscues to keep their offense rolling.

Don Ford, the Tiger shortstop, sparked the Jeffersonville offense with two singles and a lustrous triple.

Coach Clyde Helsing and his boys left Jeffersonville for Athens, the site of the tourney, early Monday. They arrived in time for a short workout before the game, after taking a brief breathing spell to relax. The game started at 11 A. M.

Tuesday, the Tigers are to go back to Athens to meet the Chaucery-Dover team in the finals. The game is to start at 1 P. M. The squad is staying all night in Athens.

Roger Lee Lewis Dies In Columbus Hospital

Roger Lee Lewis, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eugene Lewis, of Delaware St., died in Children's Hospital in Columbus at 9:30 A. M. Sunday. The infant was born in Memorial Hospital last week.

Besides the parents, the baby is survived by a sister, Pamela Jean. Committal services were held at the Washington C. H. Cemetery under the direction of the Parrett Funeral Home at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Mac's Policy Threat

"We fear that it might," Marshall replied.

Gen. Bradley Next

When recessing today's session of the point Senate armed services and foreign relations committees, Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) announced that Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, will be the witness tomorrow.

He said it was possible, however, that Marshall might be called back later for still more testimony.

In today's testimony, Marshall again told the senators that Russia has made "sizeable increases" recently in her military garrisons in the Korean area.

He also emphasized repeatedly, as he has before, that he fears adoption of the MacArthur program might bring Russia into the Korean fighting and extend it to a world wide conflict.

Marshall contended, too, that there were serious doubts that MacArthur's program would—as MacArthur contends—lead to quick defeat of the Chinese Communists.

Senator Johnson, who raised the question of the effect on Eisenhower's plans if MacArthur's proposals were adopted also asked if it was not true that all military commanders think that "the programs and policies that we are now carrying out in Korea is the most prudent and wise policy that this government could carry out under the circumstances?"

Marshall: That is correct, sir. Johnson: General, do you know whether your viewpoint is shared by the civilian heads of the three services, the army, the navy and the air force?

Marshall: I wouldn't answer that. I don't know of any difference in viewpoint.

Johnson: Do you know of any disagreements they may have as to the wisdom of the present policy?

Marshall: I don't know of any, sir.

Her daughter and daughter's two children live in the home. Some financial help comes from the daughter's work in homes in the city and from alimony payments made by the daughter's former husband.

Red Drive Starting?

AP Correspondent George MacArthur reported the Chinese deepened their penetration below the Choyang River despite a thundering American artillery barrage. There was little fighting between opposing infantrymen.

The bridgehead poses a flank threat to Chunchon, key to rail and road networks, 45 miles northeast of Seoul. Strong enemy units were massing north of the river and between Kumhwa and Hwachon above the 38th Parallel.

Allied pilots hunting through the rain clouds reported Reds steadily filtering southward. One U. S. F-80 Shooting Star crashed behind Communist lines. The 5th Air Force said the pilot was killed.

Airmen reported more than two divisions, roughly 15,000 men, were concentrating north of Chunchon.

The other main buildup was on the west central sector, north and northeast of Seoul.

An 8th-army spokesman said the Reds could strike again any time they wanted. The consensus was that they would in about ten days.

There were hints the new onslaught would be backed by greater fire power—and possibly planes.

A new airfield was discovered at Pyong, 25 miles northeast of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital. B-29 Superforts tore it up with 130 tons of bombs.

Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, 5th Air Force commander, said the Reds "could build up (an air force) fairly rapidly . . . we are keeping a watchful eye on them."

A Red patrol surrounded and overrun on the western front was equipped with an unusual number of automatic weapons, AP Correspondent John Randolph reported.

The first Chinese spring offensive was by infantry alone. It cost the Reds 75,000 casualties by U. S. 8th Army estimates. That drive began April 22 and died out in ten days.

Probing UN troops killed or wounded more than 2,600 Reds over the weekend. Pilots hunting through the gray skies Monday morning for Red concentrations reported they blasted 250 more.

Common pleas court failed to uphold her suit, ruling that the statute of limitations for malpractice extends only one year after the doctor-patient relationship ends. The ruling was upheld by an appellate court.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, May 14—(AP)—Wheat drift- ed down to new lows for about the past two months on the Board of Trade today.

The bread cereal started out lower and never could work itself into a real rally, although extreme losses were slightly reduced before the close. Rains in the southwest and continued large cash wheat receipts supplied reasons for the selling.

Most of the rest of the market was flat with wheat for fairly large losses at one time. However, the deferred contracts of corn and oats worked their way back to around the previous close.

Financial Market

NEW YORK, May 14—(AP)—The stock market became more courageous as the session wore on today and prices advanced a little. Most of the advance was measured in fractions, but it was encouraging to note that the volume picked up as the prices started ahead. The activity, however, was nothing startling and it came in short-lived spurts. Rails, steels and motors led the forward movement after wandering around uncertainly early in the session.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—World War One and Two veterans, under a number of laws passed by Congress, got or can get various benefits from the government—because they're war veterans.

But the veterans of the Korean fighting are not considered war veterans simply because Congress never has officially declared the Korean fighting a war.

So, since they're not in a "war," the Korean veterans can't get all the benefits available for war veterans, although they do get a few under special laws passed for them by Congress.

But there are wide gaps between the benefits for Korean veterans and those opened to war veterans. This was illustrated this week by the laws covering treatments at Veterans Administration (VA) hospitals.

A war veteran, suffering from an illness connected with his war service, can get treatment at a VA hospital anytime. So can a Korean veteran.

But a war veteran, with an illness not connected with his service, can get VA treatment while a Korean veteran, with a non-service-connected disability, can't.

On Wednesday a Korean veteran with a throat ailment—evidently not connected with Korean service—sought treatment at a VA hospital in Tucson, Ariz. Because the law didn't cover him, he was turned down and went to a county hospital.

This story was carried in yesterday's papers here and at his news conference yesterday morning President Truman said Congress should pass a law plugging this kind of gap. Immediately he asked Congress to do so.

And, for a change, Congress acted fast. Before Thursday was over both Houses passed a bill which said:

1. Korean veterans with non-service connected disability could get VA treatment.

2. Next of kin of Korean veterans who died of non-service-connected ailments were entitled to $150 for burial expenses. (Until yesterday this benefit went only to next of kin of war veterans).

The Korean fighting started last June. Since then a number of bills have been introduced in Congress to bridge the gap between the benefits for the two kinds of veterans.

Except for a few which Congress passed into law for the special benefit of Korean veterans, the rest have been kicking around in the capitol.

Briefly, this is what Korean veterans get:

(1) Occupational training if disabled in service, but none otherwise; (2) full compensation for

Fayette Countians To Help Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Five residents of Fayette County have made plans to attend the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association meeting in Cincinnati next Wednesday.

Those planning to go include the following: Gretchen Darlington, Mrs. Gladys Moore, Rosamond Burris, Frank Grubbs and J. Paul Strevey.

Strevey said he plans to attend the national conference of TB health association secretaries from May 14-18 and also the medical section of the National TB and Health Association.

Occasion for the meeting will be the 50th anniversary of the Ohio association.

There will be representatives from tuberculosis associations service-connected disability, just like any war veteran; (3) a grant up to $10,000 as payment on a home if so injured in service that they can't walk; and (4) protection on debts and loans contracted in civilian life before entering the service.

Here are benefits which war veterans get but Korean veterans don't:

1. A war veteran who, after his discharge, becomes completely disabled although not from any cause connected with his military service, can get a pension. A Korean veteran can't.

2. A war veteran, whether disabled in service or not, can get a free education at government expense. A Korean veteran can't, unless he was disabled in service.

3. A war veteran can get a loan from the government to buy a house or start a business. A Korean veteran can't.

4. A war veteran, who lost one or both legs, can get a free automobile from the government. A Korean veteran can't.

5. A war veteran could get unemployment pay when he got out of the service. A Korean veteran can't.

6. A war veteran got social security credit for his time in service. A Korean veteran doesn't.

from every section of the United States at the meeting, however.

They will be attending the annual meetings of the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association, the National Tuberculosis Association and the medical sections of those organizations.

Fifty years ago Dr. Charles Probst, then secretary of the Ohio State Board of Health, recommended the formation of a voluntary health organization to aid in the fight against tuberculosis.

At the time of his suggestion in April of 1901, over 7,000 people were dying each year from tuberculosis in Ohio. There were few clinics and only one hospital, with a 350-bed capacity.

In the years since 1901 the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association has helped organize a tuberculosis association in every county in Ohio.

From one hospital of 350 beds Ohio now has 25 tuberculosis hospitals with 4,775 modern beds for active cases of the disease.

The number of deaths have been decreased from 7,000 a year to just 1,601 in 1950 despite the tremendous increase in population in Ohio.

While rapid strides have been made in the discovery and treatment of TB cases, much work remains. There still remains the problem of 3,232 patients discharged from tuberculosis hospitals during 1949 of which 1,077 left against medical advice.

You Can Tell Elk's Age By Size of Its Teeth

The ages are determined by comparison with the teeth in skulls from animals the age of which was known.

At each compressor station he holds regular safety meetings, supervises the First Aid training program, checks safety equipment, promotes competition for safe driving awards, and teaches safe working habits. He lives by the rule that "accidents don't have to happen."

Curly is backed up by scores of safety devices installed on Texas Eastern's natural gas pipe lines during the heavy construction of the past three years. Steel and masonry buildings, automatic valves, explosion-proof electric and telephone equipment, mobile fire apparatus all help Curly in his job.

How well does he sell safety? 1949 figures show 10% fewer accidents among Texas Eastern employees than in the Natural Gas Industry generally—and the Gas Industry itself has a good safety record.

WISE'S

For Men & Boys
220 E. Court St.

Stubborn Wilfulness Causing Much Unrest

Two enterprising but conservative Washington C. H. business men were overheard discussing the general outlook and conditions in the country, one day last week, and they seemed doubtful as to how to make plans for the future.

Particularly were they concerned about the unchecked spending operations by the federal government and the effect it is having on so many people who are encouraged by government agencies to let their money flow freely.

One of these men remarked that he felt it was a menacing situation where the federal government appears more concerned with probes and investigations than with constructive action directed toward solution of many troublesome domestic problems and the winning of a war which already has resulted in more than 60,000 casualties among our own boys sent to Korea.

"While some of these favored employees of the White House leave soft jobs to go to Florida for expensive vacations, stopping at hotels without cost to them, which are financed by government loans, I wonder what some of the mothers think of this while their own boys are digging their way through Korean mud, fighting and dying", one of the men remarked.

No wonder the state department's foreign policy is under fire; no wonder people are expressing disgust over scandals resulting from the operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; no wonder the public is aghast over revelations and startling disclosures of crime syndicates allied with political groups; no wonder average citizens cannot understand the stubborn attitude of a president who insists on standing pat in defense of some of his appointees whose actions are "shady", to say the least.

In the meantime, demands for federal economy and an end to waste in government go almost unheeded. The administration's efforts to curb inflation have been hypocritical because of its wasteful spending and its loyalty to vote-producing pressure groups.

No sooner is a member of the administration brought under fire than President Truman rushes to his defense.

Despite these developments the people are urged to have respect for their government, to meet increasing taxation in good spirit, to send their sons to die in a war which they are supposed to win sometime—presumably—with their hands tied behind their backs.

God is still in His heaven, but it must be admitted the government in Washington does not seem headed in that direction.

Trick Backfires

Strange are the ways of modern politics. In days when the chief issue was high tariff vs. free trade, lines were more closely drawn. A man was either a Republican or a Democrat (women didn't vote).

Organized minorities had not come into existence, party allegiance was considered obligatory, and there was no thought of changing from one to the other to gain a temporary advantage. It was a mark of honor to be a lifelong member of a single party.

Then came the New Deal, followed by the Fair Deal. Instead of adhering to issues, political parties become little more than clearing houses for favors. Capitalized by the taxpayers' money, the national administration dished out gratuities to organized minorities in return for votes.

Because of this development it is impossible for the government to meet any emergency and settle it strictly on the basis of public welfare. Groups which have been favored in the past expect a continuation of special consideration and never willingly join in the general effort completely and unselfishly.

Too many Americans regard the present outpouring of billions by Washington as an opportunity for profit or to gain some special advantage. Personal interests are placed above national welfare. A gimme government finds it difficult to obtain the support of those it favored.

There is a demand for better fitting uniforms in Washington. Most folk would settle for a better fitting foreign policy.

A day of silence and meditation is proposed. Meditation surely is in order, but this is not time for Americans to remain silent.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

It is a good thing for us to know what the kidney does. For example, there is a substance in the body called albumin. It is one of the important protein constituents of the body. It enters into the composition of the blood serum and also helps to make up many of the tissues.

Normally, the kidneys safeguard the body's supply of albumin by keeping it from being excreted in the urine. However, any disorder which interferes with circulation through these organs will cause albumin to appear in the urine.

Apparently any disturbance of the blood supply to the kidneys cuts down their oxygen and thus damages them to the extent where albumin is secreted.

Excretions Collect

Infections of the kidney, of the kidney pelvis where the excretions collect before they empty into the bladder, and of the bladder itself, may cause the presence of small amounts of albumin in the urine.

The most common causes, however, seem to be those associated with kidney diseases, such as acute or chronic kidney inflammation, or a disorder known as nephrosis. The cause of the latter condition is not definitely known. In this disorder, large amounts of albumin are excreted and there is some edema or swelling of the body tissues. Anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood is another prominent symptom. This disorder is treated not only by giving a diet high in proteins, but also by injection, into a vein, of proteins taken from blood serum.

Whenever albumin is found in the urine, there is need for further study to determine its source. When the cause is found, proper treatment can be carried out.

In the Evening

In one such condition, known as physiologic albuminuria, albumin is found in the urine in the evening, but not in the morning. It is thought that this condition is due to some mild interference with kidney circulation which occurs when the patient stands up, but not when he is lying down. No particular treatment for it is required.

There are a number of simple tests for albumin in the urine, such as boiling or adding certain solutions to the urine.

Every individual, at the time of the regular physical examination, once or twice a year, should have his urine tested for the presence of albumin. This is particularly important for middle-aged and older persons who may be developing some type of chronic kidney disease.

Han River Makes GIs Homesick

AT THE HAN RIVER, Korea —(AP)—It was the Han River in Korea but it reminded the GIs of home.

The front was close. It was quiet—and forgotten for the moment. The day was warm, spring-like.

American troops, who a few days ago had fought out of a Chinese Communist ambush, swam and played in the water.

Sgt. James Kishbaugh of Nescopeck, Pa., said the Han to him looked like the Susquehanna, which meanders through Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland.

Kishbaugh, member of a Fifth Regimental combat team tank company, was helping wash a Sherman tank in the river tankers, in their shorts, splashed water on themselves and their tanks.

"We've got boating, swimming and everything. And the water's as cold as the Susquehanna, too,"

Kishbaugh said.

"It reminds me of Myrtle Beach in South Carolina, except there are no women," said another tankerman, Cpl. John T. Clard of Union, South Carolina.

"It's almost like Whitehouse swimming pool," said Cpl. Stanley Miscenski, East Bronx, Pa.

"It's not as cold as Stinson Beach," said Pvt. Jerome Sylvia, San Francisco, Tex. Naquin of New Orleans and Cpl. William A. Floyd of London, Ky., swimming in the nude and splashing water on each other, agreed the Han was not as good as the beaches at home but said it was like a holiday after the heavy fighting during the Communist offensive.

"It feels good to be in some water again. It's been two weeks since I had a shower," said Pvt. Floyd Robar of Shannock, R. I.

Pfc. James B. Reley, Chicago, said the Han was as cold as Lake Michigan.

By Stan Carter
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

"I know. I only live a mile and a half from the lake."

"This is good for the men. It gives them a chance to relax," said Sgt. William O. Ellettson of Erie, Pa.

Pfc. Russell Tyndal of Sterling, Colo., and Cpl. Thomas W. Hardy of Augusta, Ga., paddled on inflated rubber air mattresses.

Two infantrymen, Cpl. Albert Robbat, Medford, Mass., and Pfc. Robert Brandon of Benton, Ky., basked nude in the sun on the sandy bank of the Han.

"It's cold when you come out of the water," Robbat said.

"The sun feels good," said Brandon.

Pfc. Raymond Akiona, Honolulu and Sgt. Isami Sumida, Honolulu, sat on the beach.

"It's too cold for Hawaii boys to swim," said Akiona.

"The water looks pretty good. There are no waves though," said Sumida.

Automatics and Child Psychology

By George Sokolsky

It used to be said of the fire-horse that when he (or was it a she?) heard a gong, he just automatically went to the wagon to be hitched.

Automatics must be studied carefully by child psychologists, perhaps to make humans more like the obsolete fire-horse. A good way to start the training would perhaps be a course in eavesdropping with Miss Vernice Anderson as the teacher, she having scooped the world in doing automatically what parents used to tell children they should not do at all, namely, eavesdrop.

Miss Anderson makes the point that when she stood behind a door and listened to the conversation of General MacArthur and President Truman, she did it automatically. She also took down her stenographic notes automatically. She did not destroy the notes automatically but kept them, typed them and gave them to her boss, Dr. Philip Jessup, of the state department and the Institute of Pacific Relations, automatically.

Children would gain great knowledge quickly if they could only peep through keyholes, particularly after they had been ordered to bed. It might improve them more effectively than television, which is in the open and therefore no special skills. Automatic peep-holing could be developed into a fine art with prizes given each year by the freedoms foundation for those who never fail.

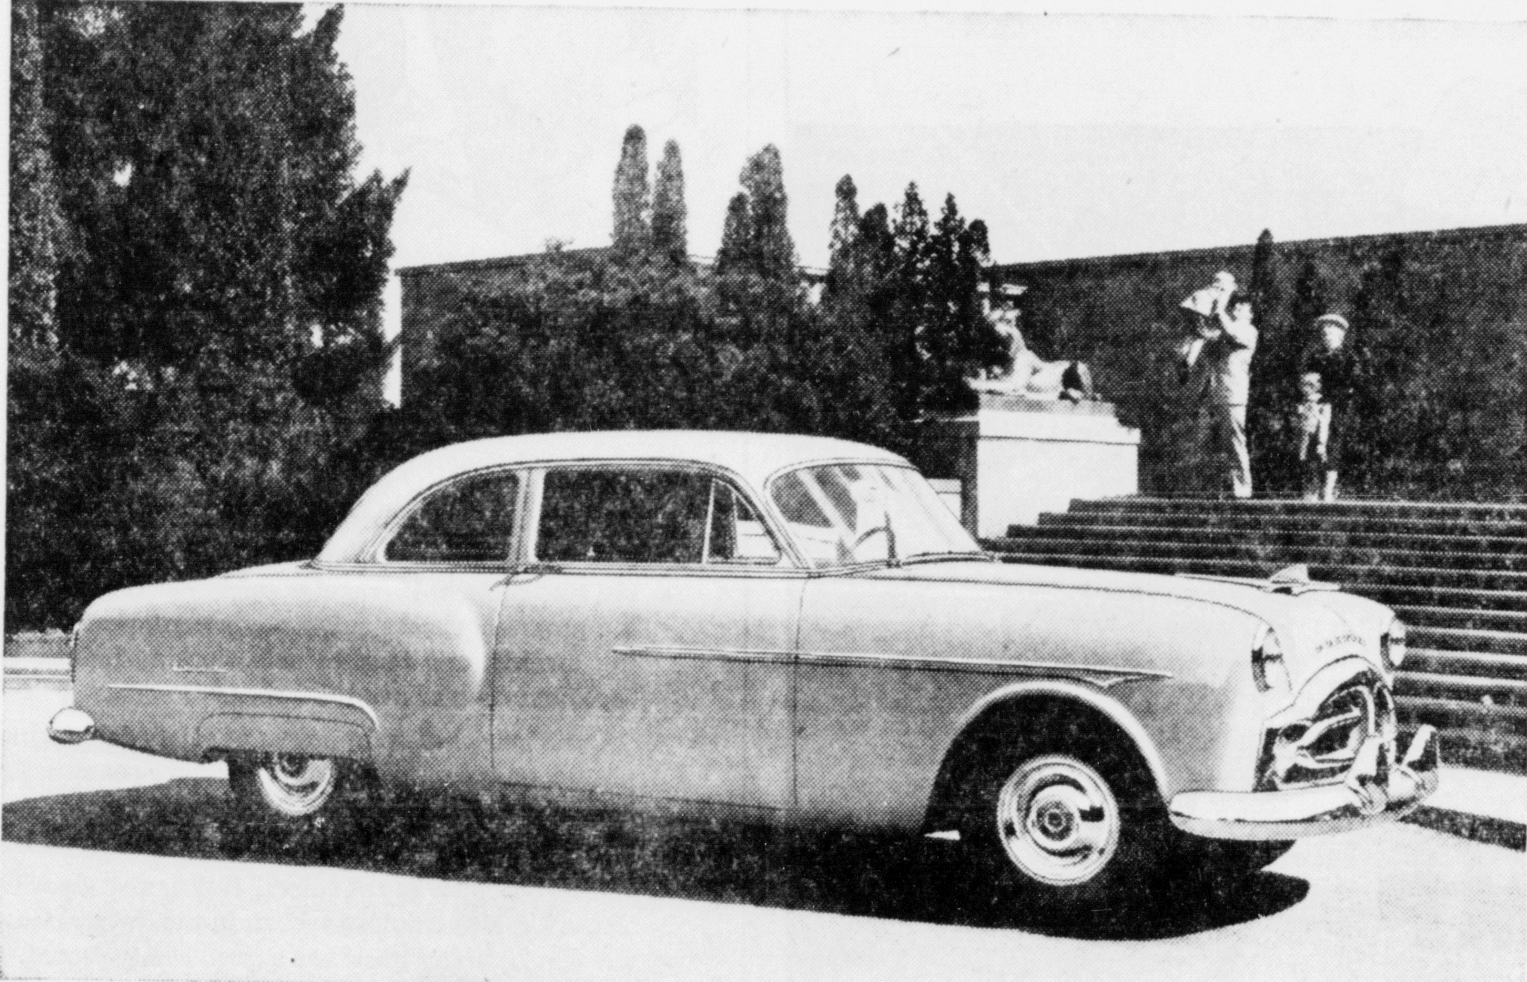

Microphone-placing in flower pots might also help the next generations. They could automatically hear papa and mama discussing family affairs, but better still, it would build the ambitions of a young man. He could perhaps write on his application for a job in the state department that he placed microphones in his sister's boudoir when he was 10 and tapped the telephone wires in the house by the time he was 14. That ought to fit him to be an expert on the Far East, to say nothing of the Middle East and Germany.

These things can, of course, become automatic, or what we used to call, second nature. For instance, it used to be second nature for small boys to peep-hole through the ball park fence. That was second nature, like jumping into a swimming hole or putting a garter snake in a bottle or putting a little girl's hair in the inkwell. Second nature can be something awful if you fail to curb it. Automatics possesses an additional quality because it requires training in some such place as the state department.

And that automatically leads to some observations concerning Miss Vernice Anderson's boss, Philip Jessup, who is one of the high mucky-mucks in the state department. He seems to be involved in everything, having come to that department from a professorship of international law at Columbia University and the Institute of Pacific Relations. He has been active in helping the country run its foreign relations, on and off, since 1924, but really did not mature until 1945, since when he has really been a big factor, second only in influence and prestige to Dean Acheson. He goes to all the conferences and makes speeches on great matters. He has never had any Far Eastern experience but purports to be an expert on the subject through his connections with the Institute of Pacific Relations, whose files the McCarran committee is now studying. He has generally been identified with those other Far Eastern experts whose predictions brought us to our present dismay.

Curious that the eavesdropping Miss Anderson, whose automatics led her to take down an off-the-cuff, unrecorded conversation between the president and General MacArthur, should be working for Dr. Philip Jessup!

Packards are built for priceless folks...like yours!

When the folks you love are involved... you could justify the purchase of a Packard on the basis of superior safety alone.

And if you're obliged to be budget-conscious—that still needn't deprive your family of a Packard. Bear in mind that the solid quality behind Packard safety has a dollars-and-cents payoff in many ways. For example:

● Packard Thunderbolt engines give you more than trustworthy reliability that keeps you in the clear... They pay dividends with: the efficiency of America's highest-compression eights and the service-free simplicity of a design with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power!

● Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive gives you more than swift responsiveness, and complete control under all driving

Outlook for Gas Here Confused

No Cause for Worry Officials Declare

Prospects of getting a new gas heating unit in that new house or a conversion burner in the furnace in the present house are highly conjectural -- not to say controversial -- in Washington C. H., right now.

With the question of the adequacy of the fuel gas supply in Ohio now before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, Dayton Power & Light Co. officials here just decline to speculate.

Both A. E. Weatherly, manager of the office here, and F. E. Hill, a former manager here but now a district executive, answered nearly all questions about the outlook for gas heating here with "no comment" and a friendly smile.

Hill did say, however, that "The Dayton Power & Light Co. will continue to give the best service possible as long as conditions permit." But he did not amplify that statement.

More by his attitude than by what he said, Hill implied that the people of Washington C. H. who have gas heating units installed now have nothing to fear from any gas shortage.

All approvals -- and they are required before gas heating units may be installed -- have been held up ever since the Public Utilities Commission started its present study of the situation. That was a little more than a month ago.

No Figures Given Out

Both Hill and Weatherly said that as long as the gas supply question is before the Utilities Commission they did not feel free even to disclose how many new and conversion burners had been installed here in the last two or three years.

However, there was no denying that the increase in the use of gas for heating has mounted with the increase in the new homes and replacement central heating which has been abandoned during the last year.

Weatherly and Hill explained that the present mains which bring the gas here from the big transmission line (which is tapped near Sedalia) should be ample to meet needs for some time unless there is an unexpected abnormal demand. Only last year, they pointed out, a new 8-inch main was laid along the Lewis Pike to replace the old 5-inch main.

The chairman of the Utilities Commission, however, only this week presented a discouraging picture of inadequate gas supplies for Ohio.

proposed gas supplies, Chairman Harold Mason said, if all such supplies were received, there still would be a gas shortage in Ohio next winter.

And, he added, storage programs of various utilities serving the state "would help, but still would leave us short."

Freeze Is Probable

Mason declined to say what the State Utilities Commission would decide about freezing installations of new and conversion gas burners. But, the inference was obvious.

A complete freeze probably will be ordered.

Mason returned today from a meeting of the Utilities Commissions from seven states and the District of Columbia in Washington yesterday.

He said the meeting appointed a committee of eight members--one from each state and the district -- to study the critical fuel gas situation.

He said the committee eventually would make recommendations and possibly try to apply pressure both to the federal Power Commission, and various pipeline companies to increase fuel and gas supplies. Mason is chairman of the committee.

Two Projects Faced

Two projects immediately face the committee. No. 1 is the proposed pipeline by Tex. Gas Transmission Corp., which would run from Mississippi through Ohio to Pittsburgh. Mason said this line would furnish 300,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

Of that figure, Ohio should get 150,000,000 cubic feet. Mason said the committee would pressure the government to allocate steel for construction of the proposed line.

No. 2 project is a proposed pipeline from the southwest by Panhandle Eastern Gas Transmission Corp. Panhandle Eastern has applied to Power Commission but the application has not been approved. This line would furnish 25,000,000 cubic feet each day.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Is Lovely Event

The Mother-Daughter Banquet at the First Christian Church which is an annual event was a most delightful event, when a large group of members assembled for the delicious meal served in the social rooms of the church Friday evening.

The invocation preceding the dinner was sung by the group to the tune of "Jesus Savior Pilot Me." Long tables decorated lavishly with pastel colored streamers seated the group and each place was marked with clever programs which further carried out the pastel theme.

Mrs. Edwin Swartz was toastmistress for the evening and announced the program. The opening song was "Faith of Our Mothers" by the group. A toast to mothers was given by Miss Shirley Hickman in clever rhyme. Mrs. Ben Norris responded with a toast to daughters, also in rhyme. Mrs. John Tigner sang beautifully, "I Am Satisfied" and Mrs. O. D. Farquhar was introduced by Mrs. Swartz in a dramatized reading "Our Neighbors" which was given in the reader's usual pleasing manner.

A vocal trio made up of Mrs. Coyt Stookey, Mrs. Don Belles and Miss Mary Sue Belles, sang most effectively "Open Our Eyes", accompanied by Miss Christine Switzer.

Mrs. Swartz gave a short closing talk and Mrs. C. B. Tigner led in the closing prayer.

Committees in charge of the pleasant event were: Banquet—Coyt Stookey, chairman, Don Belles, Richard Moore, Leo Cox, Lawrence Belles, Dwight Spengler, and D. F. Strong; Program—Mrs. Edwin Swartz, chairman, Mrs. Carl Meriweather and Mrs. Milbourne Flee.

Greenbrier Open Won by Sam Snead

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 14 —(AP)—Sam Snead ended with a vengeance some argument that he hadn't ever won his own golf tournament, but what's more he showed he's ready to defend his money winning title.

Snead put on a blazing finish yesterday to win the fourth annual Greenbrier Open. The dark-complexioned West Virginian wound up with a six-under par 64 for a 72-hole total of 263, 17 strokes better than par.

That was four strokes ahead of Jim Ferrier of San Francisco.

Moose Team Beaten At Greenfield, 9-6

Five errors in the top of the seventh inning proved the downfall of the Washington C. H. Moose as the Greenfield beat them 9 to 6 Sunday afternoon on the Greenfield diamond.

The two teams were all tied up at four-all going into the Greenfield half of the seventh. Then two hits, one of them a triple, combined with five costly errors added up to five Dairymen runs.

Two hits in the bottom of the eighth inning could only bring across two runs for the Moose and they went down in order in the ninth.

Bob Dawes, of the Washington C. H. Moose, was the losing pitcher. He gave up four hits and three walks for nine runs and struck out six. Brother Kenny Dawes took over in the middle of the seventh inning and went the rest of the way. He issued one hit, one walk and struck out three.

The Moose will be out of town again next Sunday for a game at Hillsboro.

Sunday's game was a farewell appearance for Dale Dawes, Moose rightfielder who went into the service Monday morning.

Jeffersonville Cubs Win at Wilmington

Jeffersonville's Cubs today had served notice on the rest of the Southwestern Ohio League teams that they will have to be contented with in the title scramble this year.

Sunday they added another victory to their record when they trounced the Wilmington team at Wilmington convincingly, 11 to 3.

The Cubs virtually put the game on ice when, after tallying one in the first inning, they went on a seven-run scoring rampage in the second frame.

From there on out, it was just a

Softball Meeting Tuesday Night

A meeting to lay plans for the formation of softball leagues and start the season in Washington C. H. is to be held in the second floor room of the Record-Herald building at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday.

Ron Guinn and Harry Townsend, co-directors of the city recreation program, called the meeting and will serve as coordinators of all teams or prospective teams are included in the general invitation to the meeting. Sponsors or their representatives, also are welcome.

question of what the score would be.

The Wilmingtonians got all three of their runs in the third inning, the only time Dumford was in trouble.

While the Cubs were lambasting the leather for 16 safeties, Dumford was holding the opposition to four hits, one of them a double by Story.

Dumford, incidentally, helped his own cause along by knocking in three Cub runs.

Couples Tourney Won by Schalnat

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schalnat today held the couple bowling championship of Washington C. H. and took down the $25 first prize after rolling a total of 1,648 to top the 32 man-woman teams entered in the two-day event at Bowland.

Because of the number of entries, the tourney was held on two Sundays—May 6 and 13.

The entry fee for each team was $3 and the prize money was taken from the pot after expenses were paid.

All bowling was on a handicap basis.

While there were a number of husband and wife teams, there also were many in which there was no marital relationship.

Here is the way the top eight finished.

1. Mr. and Mrs. Schalnat 1648 $25
2. Mrs. Urton, D. Hunter 1635 $15
3. Mrs. Williams, L. Evans 1390 $12

Chicago Bowlers Take Lead in ABC

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 14 —(AP)—An unheralded team from Chicago, the C. B. O'Malley quint, moved into first place in the regular five-man event of the 48th annual American Bowling Congress tournament early today.

Led by a 699 series by John Lacerra and a 692 by Ken Sprouls, the windy city five finished with a 3,070 total. This is 25 pins higher than the score posted by Stroh's of Detroit a week ago, and is the highest team total since the 1942 meet.

Horse from Here Wins in New York

Horses from Fayette County continue their money-winning performances on the big time of harness horse racing at Yonkers Raceway in New York.

Dusty Guy won the $1,250 mile pace in 2:08.4 and My Spencer finished second in another $1,250 pacing event in 2:07.1. Both horses are from Eddie Cobb's stable that were trained at Fairground here and both were driven by Billy Rouse, the first trainer of the string.

Cobb was at Yonkers to see the races, but was among the spectators—instead of at the reins—because of a broken arm. He received the injury just before the opening of racing in New York when a horse he was working at the track here fell and threw him from the sulky.

He plans to come back here this week, it was said at his home, and after a few days' mapping plans for his horses still at the Fairground here, return to New York. When he goes, it will be for the season, it was said. He expects to get back to driving in the near future.

3 Baseball Games For Lions This Week

This is the last week of play for the WHS Lion baseball team and it's going to be a busy one unless the weather interferes again.

Monday afternoon (today) the boys of WHS had a chance to get revenge for one of their three defeats this season when they went to Circleville to take on the Tigers.

The Tigers trounced them in their first meeting here earlier in the season. The Tigers of Greenfield hold the other SCO League victory over the Lions. Lenden-McKinley's defending champions knocked them off in the central district tournament in Columbus last week for their other setback.

All the rest of their games to date have been won by the Lions.

Wednesday afternoon the WHS boys go to London for a return game with the Red Raiders and on Friday they are to go to Frankfort.

They blanked the Londoners in their opening game and edged by the Frankfort team in their last game before the district tourney.

On July 23, 1907, in a Texas League game between Austin and San Antonio, Austin set a team record by stealing 23 bases.

Cigarette Licenses Are Due Again

Upward of 200 retail cigarette licenses must be obtained from the county auditor not later than May 28 to comply with the state law.

The licenses cost retail dealers $25 for the year and wholesalers $100.

Last year 183 retailers and two wholesalers obtained licenses. They expire May 28.

So far only a few of the dealers have renewed their licenses. A penalty is provided where dealers fail to renew their licenses by the date of expiration of the old license.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said the retail ceilings effective today were calculated by adding a fixed margin percentage to the price the retailer pays for each wholesale cut. Generally, these markups approximate pre-Korea dollar margins plus increased operating costs since then.

Fire Causes Garage Damage

Green-Concord Dept. Answers Third Call

Approximately $350 worth of damage was done to a garage at the farm home of Ross Eakins near Buena Vista in Green Township Monday morning, when trash stored in the building caught fire.

The Green-Concord Fire Department received the call at 10:05 o'clock and at 10:17 o'clock they were on the scene with a hose and fog nozzle.

The fire threatened a house near the garage for a time, but the department got the blaze under control and saved not only the house but a greater part of the garage.

Some lumber, storm sashes and lawn furniture was lost, but the rest of the structure was saved.

The department returned to the fire house at 11:30 o'clock.

The fire apparently started when Mrs. Eakins was burning some trash. A spark landed in the box, in which she had hauled the trash to be burned. She placed the box in the garage and the spark caught the cardboard box on fire.

There was no evidence that the fire was caused any other way, according to Fire Chief Bill Rodgers.

This is the third call the Green-Concord Fire Department has made since it was in operation the latter part of last year.
